Latest Drilling at Paguanta to Expand Resource

Event

Golden Rim has released the results of the latest round of RC drilling at the Paguanta deposit in northern Chile. The press release included the results of 12 holes, of which 3 failed to intercept significant mineralisation.

Comment

The drill holes released on the 14 June are exciting as they suggest that the Cathedral Vein extends up dip and the Carlos and New Veins extend significantly to the west and these factors will be very important for future ore resource calculations.

This is because hole PTRC-17-123 which intercepted 6m at 2.0% zinc, 0.8% lead, 346 g/t silver, 0.3 g/t gold (9.5% ZnEq) (93m to 99m), including 1m at 5.6% zinc, 3.0% lead, 1,750 g/t silver, 0.7 g/t gold (41.7% ZnEq) which was drilled on a south-east extension of the Cathedral Vein intercepted mineralisation 100m closer to the surface than previous intercepts. The discovery of this near-surface high grade silver mineralisation on the Cathedral Vein is encouraging as it supports the concept for an initial open pit in a future mine development and the positive impact this would be expected to have on early cash flows.

Similarly, hole PTRC-17-115 intercepted 2m at 9.4% zinc, 2.7% lead, 96 g/t silver, 0.1 g/t gold (13.1% ZnEq) (214m – 216m) on the Carlos and New Veins 150m to the west of the current Mineral Resource.

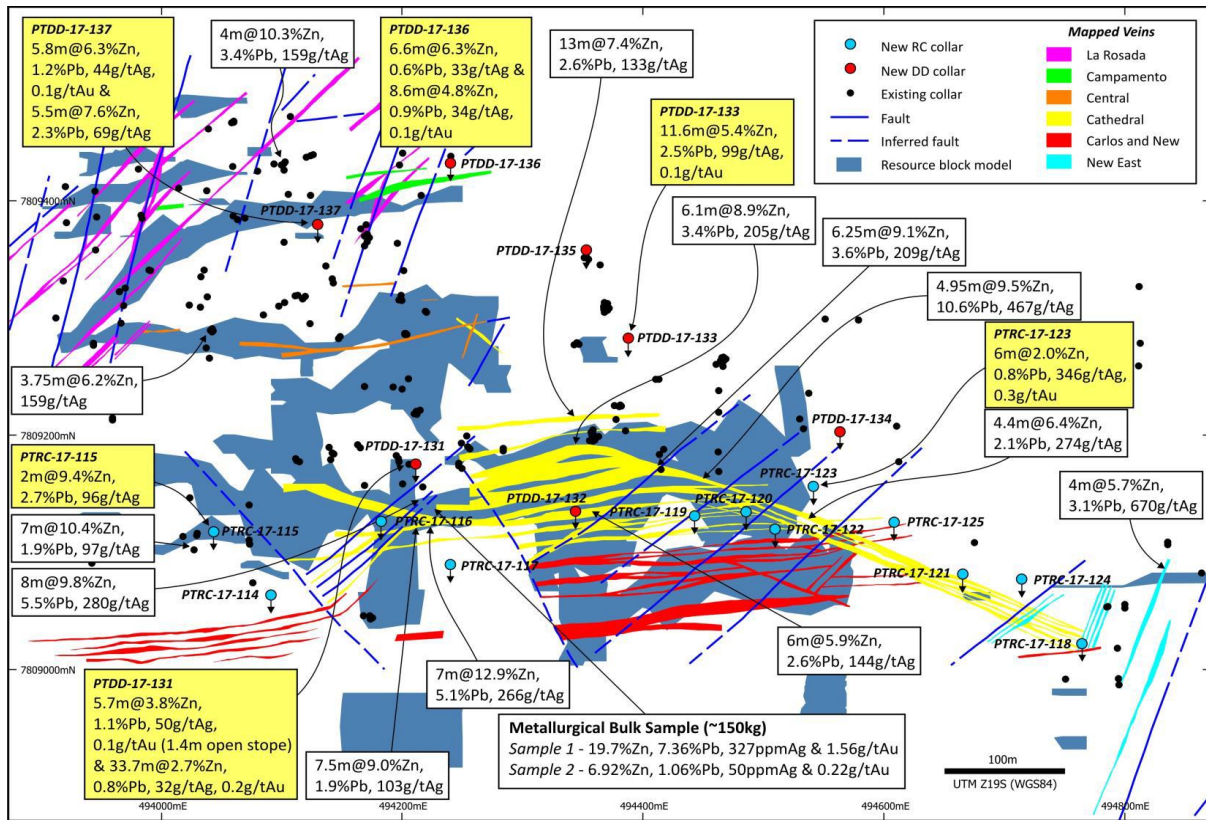

The third key point of the press release is that mapping has outlined outcropping of the Carlos and New Veins for a further 140m west of hole PTRC-17-115. This suggests that further ore grade interceptions are possible in this area.

This takes the possible western extensions to the mineralisation to 290m. Given that the current strike length of the current mineral resource is only 600m, it could be possible to more than double the resource, including the up dip potential.

Whilst holes completed to the west (PTRC-17-116) and east (PTRC-17-117) of the recently discovered Lell Vein did not intercept any significant mineralisation, but based on the RC assay results and downhole orientation data in PTDD-17-131, rather than being east-west trending, the Lell Vein is now interpreted to be trending north-east and further follow-up drilling is required to determine the extent of this mineralisation.

Further drilling is planned and an updated Mineral Resource estimate is scheduled to be released later in 2017.
